Thanks for the update, Nikia. I spoke briefly with Charlie yesterday and he asked that I add some additional examples of the units error for the other metals. Additionally, assuming the two other papers I requested via inter-library loan come in before Friday, I will also add any relevant results from those studies as well.

Is there a particular PowerPoint slide format you would like me to use? (Right now the slides are just a simple black font on white background.)

Thanks,
Lynn

Lynn,

Charlie is in the air this morning and is planning on talking with Dan Wall and Laura Williamson today (to further understand their ideas of how to present the errors found in the Meconium Study). We discussed cleaning up and

So, will you please clean up the power point and add any additional information that is necessary for presentation to the Working Group?
